INTERNAL IMPROVEMENT CONVENTION.

At a meeting of Delegates from several of the counties in the State convened in the Presbyterian Church, in the Town of Salisbury, on Thursday the 17th day of October, 1833, the convention was called to order by Gen. Thomas G. Polk, one of the Delegates from the county of Rowan, who moved that Samuel F. Patterson of the County of Wilkes, and John W. Huske of the County of Cumberland, be appointed Secretaries, which motion being unanimously agreed to, they assumed the duties of their station accordingly.

On motion of Gen. Polk, the Secretaries were requested to call over the names of the several counties in this State, when the following delegates appeared, produced their credentials, and took their seats, to wit: from

Anson—William H. Green.

Cabarrus—Paul Barringer, D. M. Barringer, A. C. McRee, Daniel Coleman, John Still, Charles W. Harris.

Cumberland—Edward L. Winslow, Louis D. Henry, John W. Huske, Duncan McCormick and James Seawell.

Iredell—James Campbell, Theophilus Falls, Jno. Mushat, H. T. Stewart, David Ramsey, William King, Samuel King, Abner Franklin, J. P. Caldwell and James A. King.

Montgomery—John B. Martin, Edmund Deberry, Francis Locke, James L. Gaines, Edmund P. Lilly.

Mecklenburg—James W. Osborne, Franklin L. Smith.

Randolph—Henry B. Elliott.

Rowan—Spencer Taylor, James Cook, James Smith, Robert Macnamara, Doct. John Scott, Jesse W. Walton, C. Bringle, Saml. Linn, Noah Partee, Abel Graham, John A. Merony, Gen. T. G. Polk, Thos. L. Cowan, Burton Craige, Fielding Slater, Dr. L. Mitchell, Michael Brown, Henry Miller, Caspar Holshouser, John McCulloch, R. M. Pearson and Doct. Mebane.

Stokes—John Gray Bynum.

Wilkes—Saml. F. Patterson, John Finley, John J. Bryan and David E. Moore.

Wake—His Excellency David L. Swain.

On motion of Mr. D. M. Barringer, His Excellency Governor Swain, one of the Delegates from the county of Wake was unanimously appointed President of the Convention, whereupon on motion of Mr. King, he was conducted to the chair by Mr. Seawell, from whence he stated the objects of the meeting, in a succinct and suitable address.

Mr. Craige presented the following resolution, to wit:

"Resolved, That a standing committee consisting of one member from each county represented in this convention, be appointed by the chair, to whom all resolutions submitted to this convention shall be referred, and that said committee report to an adjourned meeting of this body" which was unanimously agreed to.—Whereupon the following persons were appointed to compose the said committee, to wit: Wm. H. Green, Gen. P. Barringer, Hugh McQueen, Saml. King, Edmund Deberry, F. L. Smith, H. B. Elliott, Burton Craige, John G. Bynum, John Finley, and Jas. Seawell.

Mr. Seawell presented the following resolution, to wit:

"Resolved, That it is the opinion of this convention, that the requisite efficiency of improving the internal condition of the State, must be found in the Legislature, and that where its citizens shall engage in any scheme of public improvement and shall pay, or secure to be paid, three-fifths of the cost of such improvement, that the State shall pay the remaining two-fifths for the completion of the same; provided always that the General Assembly shall judge of the feasibility and public utility or advantages of such work.

Mr. Mushat presented the following resolutions, to wit:

"Resolved, That, while with regret, and humiliation of feeling, we witness the present condition of our State as to internal improvement, we rejoice to see our citizens on this subject arousing from their lethargy and manifesting a spirit, which if promptly encouraged, and prudently directed, bids fair to elevate her to a standing among her sister States, to which the extent of her territory, the richness of her soil, and the salubrity of her climate entitle her."

"Resolved further, That it is both practicable and expedient thus to encourage, at this time, this spirit for internal improvement; and that if the present opportunity be neglected, there is great danger that many years will pass away, which, with their successive revolutions, will be accompanied with a decrease of population and even an entire abandonment of the fairest, and choicest portions of our State to waste and desolation."

"Resolved further, That among the different modes of facilitating internal communication in our own State, that by rail roads is to be preferred."

"Resolved further, That while we cannot but concede, and do so with cheerfulness, the right of all and every citizen to appropriate his money to whatsoever object of internal improvement his wisdom may direct, yet we deem it of high importance, and much to be desired, that the points where the intercommunication to be effected as contemplated in the system for the internal improvement of the State, be within its limits.

"Resolved further, That it be the duty of the members of this convention, laying aside all party feeling and sectional prejudice, to use all laudable endeavors, in their respective counties, to impress upon the minds of their fellow citizens the importance and necessity of prompt, active and united exertion in advancing the cause of internal improvement."

"Resolved further, That in all cases in which responsible individuals shall subscribe three-fifths of the amount necessary for the accomplishment of any particular object contemplated in the general system for improving the State, that then and in those cases, it be recommended to the Legislature to contribute the other two-fifths for the accomplishment of said object, and, if necessary, to borrow such sums of money as may be requisite to effect the same."

Mr. Smith presented the following resolution, to wit:

"Resolved, That this convention recommend the chartering of any companies for the purpose of constructing rail roads leading to markets, either within or without the State, but it deprecates the suicidal policy of investing the funds of the State in any other than those leading to market within the State."

Mr. Saml. King presented the seven last resolutions adopted by a convention held in Raleigh on the 4th day of July last, together with the address published by a committee of that body, to the people, on the subject of internal improvement.

These several resolutions, after being read, were referred to the standing committee appointed under the resolution offered by Mr. Craige.

On motion of Mr. Henry,

Resolved, That in the decision of all questions arising in this convention, the vote shall be taken by counties, each county represented, being entitled to one vote.

On motion of Doctor Franklin, the convention then adjourned until to-morrow morning 10 o'clock.

Friday, October 18, 1833.

The convention met pursuant to adjournment.

The following additional delegates appeared, produced their credentials, and took their seats, to wit: from

New Hanover—Edward B. Dudley, Aaron Lazarus and Alex. McRae.

Caswell—Nathaniel J. Palmer.

Iredell—Robert Hall.

Mecklenburg—J. D. Boyd.

Mr. Winslow presented the following resolution to wit:

"Resolved, That while this convention view with deep and lively interest the adoption of a General system of Internal Improvement in North Carolina, and while they would earnestly urge on the Legislature the adoption and vigorous prosecution of such system by means of Railways and any other mode which they, in their wisdom may deem most expedient—yet as any general system must and will, no doubt embrace the connection of two or more of the great water courses in this State, the General committee be instructed to report definitely, some plan of a Railway which shall effect this desirable object."

Mr. D. M. Barringer moved that Gen. Joseph Graham from the county of Lincoln be invited to participate in the deliberations of the convention—and Mr. James A. King moved further that Maj. Potts of the county of Iredell be also invited to take a seat in the convention, and participate in its deliberations—these motions were unanimously agreed to.

On motion of Gen. Polk, Gen. Graham from Lincoln, and on motion of Mr. Craige, Gen. Dudley from New Hanover and Mr. Palmer from Caswell, were severally added to the general standing committees.

Mr. Palmer submitted the following resolutions which were adopted by a meeting held in Milton on the 14th instant to wit:

"Resolved, As the opinion of this meeting, that it will be expedient to construct a Rail Road from the Danville River at Milton by the way of Caswell C. H. the high Rock on Haw River, Greensborough, Salem and Lexington, N. C. or some other route more eligible, to the Yadkin River near Salisbury.

"Resolved, As the opinion of this meeting that the navigation of the Roanoke from Milton to Weldon, although sufficiently good to admit of the transportation of all our surplus produce, is yet susceptible of great improvement, an improvement commensurate with the increased quantity of freight which the construction of the proposed Rail Road would send down the river.

Mr. Palmer also presented the following resolutions.

"Resolved, As the opinion of this convention that a due regard by the Legislature for the interest, and welfare, of a large portion of the citizens of North Carolina requires that liberal encouragement should be extended to the Roanoke navigation company to aid them in the improvement of the navigation of the Roanoke river from Milton, N. C. to Weldon, or Blakely, the present terminating points of the Petersburg and Portsmouth and Roanoke Rail Roads."

"Resolved further, That it is expedient for this convention to adopt measures to have memorials circulated, and signatures obtained to be presented to the Legislature on this subject.

These several resolutions were referred under the standing order of the convention to the general committee.

Mr. Seawell from the general committee to whom was referred the several resolutions submitted to the convention, made a report thereon accompanied by sundry resolutions which were read and on motion of Mr. Henry, ordered that the said report together with the resolutions, be recommitted to the same committee.

Mr. McQueen submitted the following resolutions, to wit:

"Resolved, That inasmuch as the present system of working the Roads, and preserving them in repair in N. Carolina is radically defective, being productive of signal inequality in the distribution of the public burthens in regard to relative position of the rich and the poor without advancing the prosperity or the convenience of either of the grand divisions of human society—that the members of the ensuing Legislature be earnestly requested to adopt such measures as will be calculated to improve the condition of the Public Roads throughout the State, and to secure a more equitable division of the labor of keeping them in repair between the wealthy and the poor." This resolution was also referred to the standing committee.

On motion of Mr. Henry, the Convention then adjourned until 12 o'clock this day.

The convention met pursuant to adjournment. Archibald G. Carter, Robert N. Fleming and Rufus H. Kilpatrick, additional delegates from the county of Rowan, appeared and took their seats.

Mr. Seawell from the standing committee to which was referred the various resolutions submitted to the convention, made a report thereon accompanied by the following resolutions, to wit:

The General Committee to whom was referred the several Resolutions submitted for their consideration, beg leave to

REPORT,

That they have bestowed upon the important subjects submitted to them, such reflections as the time afforded your committee, has allowed. In the examination of which, they have endeavored to unite in a condensed form, the views and suggestions expressed in the several Propositions, so as to present to the convention the subject in a light best calculated to attain the great object in view. They therefore recommend the adoption of the following Resolutions:

1. Resolved, That in the opinion of this convention, due respect for the convention which is to assemble in Raleigh on the 4th Monday in November next, in which the whole State will be represented, requires that the particular scheme of Internal Improvement to be adopted, should be referred to that body.

2. Resolved, That such a system of Improvement should be devised and prosecuted, as will be best calculated to develope the resources, and advance the character of the State of No. Ca.

3. Resolved That notwithstanding the established conviction indulged by this convention, that the most important benefits would flow from the construction of Rail Roads wherever it may be desirable and practicable to do so in the State, yet, we are not insensible to the immense advantages which would result from the improvement of our channels of water communication, both by clearing them of their obstructions, and by connecting their waters, at suitable points, by the establishment of rail roads, or canals.

4. Resolved, That the General Assembly ought, in the opinion of this convention, to provide by loan or otherwise, a fund that will enable the State to contribute substantial assistance in the prosecution of works of Internal Improvement.

5. Resolved, That in the opinion of this convention, it is the duty of the State to aid and encourage the enterprize of her citizens, and this convention doth, therefore, respectfully recommend, that provision be made by law for the State's subscribing two fifths of the stock in any company hereafter to be incorporated for internal improvements, whenever the other three fifths shall be paid, by individuals. But while we declare this opinion, we would also recommend to the legislature to carry on, with the funds of the State alone, such a general system of internal improvement, as will comport with the character and dignity of the State.

6. Resolved, That to the successful prosecution of any system of internal improvement, it is essential that every section of the State should surrender local preferences to the general prosperity.

7. Resolved, That the Governor be requested to communicate the proceedings of this convention to the next General Assembly.

8. Resolved, That it be earnestly recommended to the citizens of the several counties in this State, to elect, or appoint, three delegates, not members of our assembly, from each county, to hold a convention in the city of Raleigh, on the fourth Monday in November next, to deliberate further upon the subject of internal improvements within the State.

9. Resolved, That the chairman of the convention appoint a committee consisting of one member from each delegation, to prepare and publish an address, to the citizens of the State, accompanying the proceedings of this convention.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JAMES SEAWELL, Ch'mn.

Gen. Graham moved to amend the seventh resolution by inserting after the word delegates the words "not members of Assembly," which amendment was agreed to.

Mr. D. M. Barringer moved further to amend the resolutions, by inserting the following, after the fifth resolution, to wit:

"Resolved, That to the successful prosecution of any system of internal improvements, it is essential that every section of the State should surrender local preferences to the general prosperity."

Which amendment was also agreed to.

The resolutions as amended, were then severally read and adoptod.

The resolution submitted by Mr. McQueen, in relation to amending the general road laws of the State, was then taken up and adopted.

On motion of Mr. Winslow,

"Resolved unanimously, that the thanks of this meeting be tendered to His Excellency David L. Swain, for the able and impartial manner in which he has discharged the duties of President of this convention."

On motion of Col. Macnamara,

"Resolved, That the thanks of this convention are hereby tendered to the Secretaries thereof for the able and satisfactory manner in which they have performed their duties."

On motion of Gen. Polk,

"Resolved, That the thanks of this convention be presented to the Elders and Members of the Presbyterian church in this place, for the use of the church during the deliberations of the convention."

On motion of Mr. Palmer,

"Resolved, That the proceedings of this convention be signed by the President and Secretaries, and be published in the several papers printed in this town, and that other editors throughout the State be requested to do the same."

On motion of Mr. D. M. Barringer, the convention adjourned, sine die.

D. L. SWAIN, President.

S. F. PATTERSON, } Secretaries.
JOHN W. HUSKE, }

The following gentlemen were appointed a committee to prepare and publish an address to the people of the State, in obedience to the last resolution adopted by the convention, to wit:

Thos. G. Polk, Ch'mn.	Joseph Graham,
D. M. Barringer,	Wm. H. Green,
Joshua D. Boyd,	Louis D. Henry,
John G. Bynum,	John Mushat,
Edmund Deberry,	Hugh McQueen,
Edward B. Dudley,	N. J. Palmer,
Henry B. Elliott,	S. F. Patterson.

The following resolution was intended to be introduced into the Convention which sat in this place last week, by Mr. E. L. Winslow, a delegate from Fayetteville:

"Resolved, That the increasing identity of interest between the towns of Salisbury and Fayetteville, imperiously requires a corresponding extension of the facilities of mail transportation between the two places; and that, for the purpose of accomplishing an object so desirable, the members representing the respective districts of Salisbury and Fayetteville, in Congress, be earnestly requested to adopt such measures as will secure the establishment of a regular line of stages between the two places."

It is surprising that a direct line of Stages has never been established between this section of the State and its principal market town—and the project of connecting them by a rail road having now become a favorite one with many of our citizens, both in Fayetteville and the West, a more direct and expeditious communication between them is more than ever desirable.

The resolution, we have no doubt, would have been unanimously sanctioned by the Convention, had not its introduction been prevented, by the rising of that body at an earlier day than was anticipated.

We understand that a petition will be presented to the Postmaster General, from Fayetteville, and we hope another will be sent from this town, for the establishment of this line. If the Representatives of the two districts will lend their assistance in the matter, and we presume they will, the object can be effected, we think, without any difficulty.

FROM THE SALISBURY WATCHMAN.

To Mr. Edward C. Wat.
that has some hand in the Watchman.
These from Callahan's.

Dr. Sir:—When I went to Salisbury last week, I enquired for you from every man I saw, and as I suppose you might be reached with a letter, I have taken my pen in hand to inform you that I went down to see what they a going to do in the convention towards makin us a rail Road or two, and as I understood that the Governor and some big fish from below was to be there, I thought I would go down and git acquainted, and if it come in the way I'd give 'em some hints about raising the character of the State: for ever since that South Carolina Nullifier compared North Carolina to an old feller that slept twenty years at a single nap, I have felt like I could freely give a day's work out of every week's until something was done to stop the mouth of such back-biters. They tell me that it was generally reported that the grand-father of this man who cuts such swells about North Carolina, took to his scrapers at the battle of King's Mountain, and that this Lawyer Preston and some of his other kin has been trying to prove that it's all a lie, and from what I have heard and seen in the Watchman as comin from old Capt. Kincannon, I believe that it is a lie; but I don't think it looks very well in a man, who is engaged in clearing his fore-father's name from slander, to turn slanderer agin a whole State.

As I said before, I hunted for you, I wanted to get you to go with me to see the Governor, and as I could'nt find you, I went down to Mr. Slaughter's and asked for his room, a pert lookin little chap showed me to his door, I knocked, and a tall big mouthed man opened it and asked me to come in: I walked in and took a seat; after waiting a while, I asked him if he was the Governor's waitin man? (for I had heard that your great folks have whitish men to brush their clothes and drive their carriages.) The man looked at me strange, and bursting out in a laugh, he said "Sir, I happen to be David L. Swain in proper person," I told him he could'nt put that joke on me, and as I was in a hurry if he would tell me where the Governor was I'd thank him. The man laughed outrajusly, and when he stopped he told me he was the Governor. I had no notion of being quizzed by as I thought a great man's man, so I got mad and told him he was a pretty looking chap for a Governor; and I pushed off and came down stairs where I fell in with the same chap that had went up with me. I asked him where the Governor was? Why says he, the Gentleman that opened the door for you was the Governor. You see I was taken, I went back and asked pardon for my mistake, and the Governor offered me his hand with a smile that might have measured about six inches, bid me set down, and when I told him my name he got up and shook me by the hand agin, and told me he was very glad to see me, for that he wanted to get my opinion on several matters. We set down by the fire and we chatted a good while, and you may depend if David Swain don't look like a Governor I should like to see the Governor that can out talk him. There he set as easy as an old shoe, apparently jest as much pleased with my talk as I was with his. He said the information I gave him would be of great service to him, and I know the information he gave me will be of service to me as long as I live.

There was a slick-spoken man in the convention from Fayetteville, that took the lint off of any thing that I have heard this many a day.—Never, as I know of, since brother Dan and I used to ride from Callahan's to Salisbury in old times, and stay a week just to hear old Baldy Henderson defend a criminal, and many a time I have cried at things which would'nt have moved me if they had been said by any other mouth, but there was a something in the sound of that old man's voice that could make the flesh quiver and the cold streaks run over a body. I have heard some of the very best preachers and none but bishop Ravenscroft that ever I heard could come nigh old Mr. Henderson. I once heard the Bishop preach at Salisbury, on the text "God is Witness," and he sorter started the cold streaks a time or two; I thought a good deal afterwards on what he said, but his words did'nt haunt me as Mr. Henderson's used to do. This Mr. Henry was in fact as nice a speaker as I have heard since them times; but I cant say but I liked the Governor's speech just as well as his. He was so natural and so glib, that he seemed just as he did when he was setting with me at Mr. Slaughter's talkin over matters and things in general. I understood every word he said, and I believe that every word was the truth. You may depend upon it Mr. Wat, Gov. Swain is a knowing man and an honest man, and a gentleman that don't want to receive the people's money and eat the bread of Idleness—and I for one, would be willing to go with him to any pass to improve the country.—You may think I say these fine things to make up for takin him for his own waitin-man, but in fact, I believe what I say, and brother Dan and all the neighbors that heard him talk thinks as I do.

Yours till deth,

GEO. CORNELIUS DAVIS.

Washington, 22 Oct. 1833.

To my old friend Mr Dwight,
of the New York Daily Advertiser:

My last letter to you telled you about that are scuffle I had among some of our folks down stairs, and do you know it has been nigh bringing war among us.—Mr. Van Buren came down here all in a lather about it. He was plagy fraid there would be more voluntary dismissals, and he says it wont do to have too many of them all at once, or the folks about the country will begin to think that we aint all units. Some on em did try, I suspect, to make muddy water between me and the Gineral, for one day when I was busy doin up some writin for the Gineral, he was called out, and had a long talk with Mr. Van Buren, and Amos Kindle, and some more on em; and when he came back, says he, Major, I wish you and I was at the Hermitage. Why, says I, how so Gineral? Well, I dont know exactly why, says he, but I dont see, says he, what use there is in my being here, for things are gittin now so mixed up, that I cant tell exactly what is best to do to get Mr. Van Buren in. Do you know Major, says he, that Mr. Van Buren says he dont think it was right to move the deposits. Why how you talk, says I. Did'nt he advise it? Well so I thought, says the Gineral; but he says it would be best only to hold it up by the tail, as you do a fox, and keep all the dogs barking for it; for as soon as you throw the fox in the crowd, a few old Jowlers grab hold, and the rest dont git a mouthfull; and then comes trouble.

Well, says I, Gineral, that's true enuf, and that's just the way we are doing now with the minister to England, and some other appointments; we must keep the folks smellin round, and one vacancy to fill, says I, is worth a dozen filled up. But, Major, that aint the worst now, says the Gineral; and he got up, and stomped about, and then came back and filled his pipe, and stomped about agin, without lighting it. I see there was trouble brewin. Says he, Major, I dont care so much about it myself; but they say you must make Amos Kindle an apology for that blow you aimed at him tother night. And with that I riz right up, and walked straight up chamber, and put on my regimentals, and my cocked hat, and hooked on my sword, and went strait down stairs to Amos. Here, says I, mister, the Gineral says you want to say something to me. O no, Major, says he, there must be some mistake. Well then, says I, it is that you want me to say something to you. O no, says he, that's a greater mistake. I looked at him for about a minit; and he shook like a North Carolina ague. Says he, Major, I suspect the Gineral meant you to look over with me a statement I am getting up, showing how much money Mr. Clay has received of the Bank; it is almost done, says he, and I'll bring it up for you and the Gineral and Mr. Van Buren to see. Very well, says I, that's enuf. And back I went to the Gineral; and as soon as I got in front of him I stopped. Now, says I, Gineral, what was that you was saying a while ago that you wanted me to do? The Gineral was stumped, he looked at me a spell, and says he, Major, I reckon I've forgot it; and suppose we say no more about it. And jest then in came Mr. Van Buren; and shortly after Amos came in, and we all sot down, and began to figure up the counts that our little District Attorney had been sendin to Amos Kindle, about the money the Bank had paid to Mr. Clay for his services from the time Mr. Cheves employed him to sue the folks away west there, when the Bank closed up one of its branches. And it figures up pretty considerable.—And Amos has got it so fixed, that it looks for all the world like "bribery and corruption;" and we are coming out with it, and a good deal more too; and if it dont kill Mr. Clay, I'm mistaken.

The Gineral is as wrathy as thunder about Clay's journey north, and Mr. Van Buren dont like it a bit nother. But the Gineral tells Mr. Van Buren, if so be that the folks north and south, and all about creation, take a notion to Mr. Clay, and think he would make a better President than Mr. Van Buren,—then he, the Gineral, will hold on for a 3d heat; and thats about my notion too. Mr. Van Buren would stand a good chance in a race, when a good many are runnin, and if the ground is muddy and slippery; for he is a master hand at trippin folks. But I'm afraid he'd stand a slim chance over a clear field. And it aint fair to make him run so. Any man can catch a rat in a strait race, because he aint used to it; but give him a few old barrels and logs to dodge round, then, I tell you, its pretty tough work.

I haint had a letter from Zekel Bigelow for some time. I raly begin to think that critur has left Wall street, and gone East with Mr. Clay—can you find out and let me know? Your friend,

J. DOWNING, Major,
Downingville Militia, 2d Brigade.

Unfortunate Occurrence.—Yesterday forenoon, between eleven and twelve o'clock, during divine service in the Catholic church, in Ann street, an unfortunate scene of confusion was created in consequence of an alarm that the walls of the chapel were falling, which previously had been much cracked by the digging of a foundation for a new building by the side of it, eight feet deeper than the foundation of the church. The appearance of these cracks, and the fact that the west side of the chapel had settled full nine inches, probably occasioned some misgivings in the minds of the congregation that the building was not altogether safe. The immediate cause of the alarm, however, was the falling of a front sash in the gallery, which instead of sliding up and down, as is usual by means of pullies, worked on a pivot, so as to be shoved out by means of a stick; and when it fell, it rebounded several times, making a terrible noise like the cracking of mortar and frame-work. A cry instantly arose from several females in the gallery that the church was falling, which was re-echoed by a general shriek and a rushing for the doors. One only was open, and not being sufficiently large to prevent the pressure to pass through; the consequence was, that a great number of females, children, and old and feeble men were thrown down, trampled under foot, and severely injured. About ten or twelve women in their fright jumped from the windows of the gallery to the ground, and it is said that two had their legs broken; at all events, the whole of their frames must have been considerably jarred; and it is a great wonder from the fearful height that they escaped with their lives.—N. Y. Standard.

A great Destiny for a great People.—The Editor of the U. S. Telegraph, in a late article explanatory of his rupture with the President, says:

"If we had consented to have taken our seat as the chief of the Kitchen Cabinet, we could have held the destiny of this people in our hands!"

A little further on, he adds this picture of the alternative presented to him on occasion of the quarrel between the President and Mr. Calhoun:

"It was a severe, and pressing conflict. We saw on the one hand Mr. Calhoun, persecuted, by contending factions, denounced by acclamation, without power, and without patronage—to go to his aid was to surrender the certain means of affluence. It was to give up a "political influence" such as no man else ever has held, and which we trust in God never will again fall to the lot of any one citizen of this republic. On the other hand was the most potent party and the most popular President, fast falling into his dotage, and of necessity leaning upon those who share his confidence; ready to lavish his favors, and waste his patronage upon his favorites—to remain with him was but to float on the smooth sea of swelling prosperity. Mr. Calhoun and his friends could not charge us with desertion. We owed them no allegiance; and with an organized press and the patronage of the Government at our control, their complaints, would have never been heard. Who can suppose that a single editor north of the Potomac would have dared to defend the gallant few who sustained the "Constitution at its last gasp," if the Telegraph had assailed them?"

Chloride of Soda.—A singular case of a severe burn cured by the use of a solution of the chloride of soda, is recorded in the London Lancet. An attorney, in attempting to put out the flames that had attacked the curtains of his bed, had got his hands burned—blistered, but not broken. He sent for a couple of quarts of the lotion, (4 oz. of the solution to a pint of water,) had it poured into soup plates, wrapped his hands in lint, as no skin was broken, and so kept them for some time. Next morning he was so perfectly well that only one small dried patch of burn remained; yet an hour and a half had elapsed before the application. The same solution has been equally effectual in scalds and bruises. It never fails almost immediately to heal a "black eye." When the chloride is used for scalds, it is necessary to use with it in the after applications some spermaceti oil.

THE CIRCULATING MEDIUM.

The embarrassments consequent upon the rapid diminution of a circulating medium which was once redundant, are daily becoming more and more oppressive, and call for the Legislature for relief, in a manner which cannot be disregarded.

We were pleased at hearing a gentleman from Fayetteville say, a few days since, that the Bank of Cape Fear would soon apply to the Legislature for a renewal of its charter, and perhaps, for an enlargement of its capital. This Bank sustains a high and merited reputation for fidelity and ability in the management of its concerns: and if they were enabled, by a renewal of its charter, to enlarge, instead of curtailing, (as it is compelled to do,) its discounts, and more speedy, and of course more effectual relief would be thus afforded to the community, than could be derived from any other source.

Some time would be required to put the Bank into operation; and, in the mean time, thousands of honest and useful citizens will become bankrupt, and tens of thousands driven, by discouragements at home, to seek asylums in other States.

It is desirable and expedient, for this reason, that the Banking capital of the State should be increased at this time.

It would impart animation to the spirits of those who are now too dispirited to undertake schemes of improvement, and would encourage many to subscribe liberally, who have ample and substantial resources, but who, in consequence of the scarcity of money, cannot yield a sufficient annual surplus from their income to them to meet instalments.

There are many wealthy planters who would take stock in rail road schemes, if sufficient facilities were afforded them of getting the money without sacrificing that property, the value of which it is their object to increase.

Although, for the reasons assigned, we are particularly desirous that the capital of the Cape Fear Bank should be increased, still we would not have it thence withdrawn, that we are opposed to the creation of any other institution of the kind. It is the true policy of the State, not to re-charter the Bank of Cape Fear, but to establish another; and an appropriation for the still further diminution of our currency medium, which will follow the demise of the United States Bank, [an occurrence which by no means improbable,] would justify the Legislature in making timely provision for such an event, either by renewing the charter and enlarging the capital of one or more of the old Banks, or by the erection of a new one, or by doing both, as may seem most expedient, upon a view of all the circumstances.

At all events, we trust that some relief will be done, this winter, to obviate the constantly increasing distress of our people, who are the victims of a near-sighted policy, which they have borne with the patience of martyrs.

Improved Railway.—We have been favored with the sight of the model of a new mode of railway conveyance, which is about to be brought into use, will present extraordinary advantages to the public. It is on the system of the Saxton locomotive power, and according to the calculations of the inventor, who is an engineer of some celebrity, the average rate of travelling will be thirty miles an hour on a light railway, upon the ordinary road, without regard to the least expenditure for levelling, and the cost per mile, instead of being, as it is on the rail ways now in use, will be £5,000.

According to the proposed plan, a carriage, walking at the rate of two miles an hour, over a distance of only one hundred yards, will be able to draw a light carriage, containing four persons, a distance more than one thousand six hundred yards within the same period of time as that occupied by the animal in performing the same distance. The carriage, on arriving at the end of a mile, will be carried by mechanism from the truck on which it is placed, to another truck in waiting to receive it, and the same will be done from mile to mile to the end of the journey, each succeeding carriage being drawn in a similar manner to the first until the whole train shall have passed over the railway.—London Spy.

TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 5, 1833.

Dreadful Accident.—On Sunday last, as Mrs. McLennon, of this vicinity, was returning from preaching, in a gig, the horse which she was driving took fright, and running into the woods, threw her out with such violence that she expired almost immediately. She was a respectable lady, and has left a husband and several children to mourn her melancholy fate.

Banks.—The reader will find some sensible remarks from the Western Carolinian, in another column, on the propriety of the Legislature re-chartering the Cape Fear Bank. Whether that Institution will apply for a re-charter or not, we are not informed. Perhaps the time is now too short for a meeting of the Stockholders for that purpose. But there need be no difficulty on that score.—The wants of the people require that some Bank should be provided which can afford immediate relief from the pressure produced by the winding up, simultaneously, of the U. S. Bank, the State Bank and the Newbern Bank. A Bank of the State, even should it find favor with the Legislature, could not be put in operation in time to extend relief. It is therefore hoped, that whatever State Institution may be chartered, the only one of the present Banks whose situation will admit of it, and which has enjoyed an enviable reputation for prudent management, may be preserved. We are glad to learn that this sentiment is prevailing to a far greater extent than we had supposed, and that it is very generally conceded that no measure can be so likely to result to the relief of the public wants, and to the preservation of a sound currency, as this. Whatever may be done upon the subject, must be done at the ensuing session, for the evils cannot be estimated which will result from the pressure produced by the rapid winding up of all the Banks in the State.

The following is an extract of a letter lately received by a gentleman of this town, from a highly respectable and intelligent gentleman who emigrated from this place several years ago, and who had resided about four years in New Orleans. The strong admonition it contains against indulging extravagant hopes of accumulating a fortune by going to N. Orleans, has had additional weight imparted to it, by the melancholy fact, that the respected writer has paid the last debt of nature since he penned it. He lost a wife and child there two or three years ago.

"Until the Cholera appeared last year, I intended to hazard the climate of N. Orleans; but I think now that I shall have to make another beginning, which will probably be some where in the interior of Louisiana; and in all the healthy parts of this State, the prospect I believe is not much better than it would be in the interior of North Carolina. You will readily conceive that I am disappointed in my expectations. It is true. I once thought that I might make money in this State, and at the same time avoid great exposure to diseases of a deadly character—but it is hardly possible. Hence great numbers annually fall victims in trying the experiment. In your intercourse with others avoid giving any encouragement to emigrate to New Orleans. It is overrated as to the advantages which it offers to young men without capital, and very many, every year, find they have been greatly deceived. It is melancholy to see the vast numbers that are rushing in every year, just to see their hopes destroyed, to live a short time, perhaps in poverty, and then to die in the prime of life, to make room for others, like themselves, infatuated with unreal hopes, and doomed to a premature grave. But there are some who become rich and who are not harmed by the climate. They are, perhaps, as one to a thousand."

Ecclesiastical.—The Presbytery of Fayetteville will meet at Brown Marsh Church, Bladen County, on the 8th of November.

The Bishops and elders of the Synod of North Carolina, will meet in the Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, N. C. on Wednesday the 13th of November.

Mr. William Gattis, living about five miles north of this place, presented to us four Yam Potatoes, two of which weighed seven and a half pounds. Mr. Gattis informed us that his patch contained fifty-eight square rods, or a little more than one third of an acre, and from it he gathered one hundred and three bushels and a half of potatoes, which on an average would weigh at least a pound and a half each. Is not this some evidence that we might be prosperous, if we had proper facilities to transport our produce to market?

Cannot some of our Cumberland or Robeson farmers beat this?

In addition (says the Augusta Chronicle) to the particulars given by the Columbus paper, it is stated by a gentleman just arrived in this city from Alabama, that 400 of the Alabama settlers were armed and encamped at the Pole Cat Springs, waiting the approach of the U. S. Troops, which (consisting of 150 men) had moved on toward that place, with the determination to expel them by force.

New York, October 28.

By the Henry IV. we have French papers up to Sept. 10th. The reported sales at Havre are exceedingly devoid of interest. Absolutely nothing was doing in cotton.—Whalebone was sold on the 14th at 182f 50, some Sea Island cotton sold at 4f 25, 3f, and 2f 40. The sales of cotton for the week ending Sept. 15th, were but 420 bales, and of those only 30 bales were of the U. States short staple. The reports of Coffee equally unimportant.

Launched at Campbellton, on Saturday last, the Flat Nullifier, built by a company of merchants, under the immediate direction and superintendence of our enterprizing citizen, J. Waddill, Jr. an experienced and indefatigable boat owner. The Nullifier is well adapted for the present low state of the river, capable of carrying 100 bales of cotton on 12 inches water; boats of this description will always insure the immediate and certain transportation of all produce and merchandize. From the general satisfaction manifested on the occasion of the launch, and the perfect adaptation of the boat to low water, we have no doubt but that our merchants and boat owners will be prepared with boats of this description, to overcome not only the natural obstructions of the river, increased by an unprecedented dry season, but also to nullify the impediments placed in their way by the operations of the Navigation Company.—Communicated.

FOR THE OBSERVER.

The new and beautiful Church recently erected for the worship of the Presbyterian Church and Congregation of Sardis, in the upper part of this County, was dedicated to the service of Almighty God, on Saturday, the 26th ult. A large and respectable congregation assembled. The introductory Prayer was made by the Rev. Mr. McDugald, the Pastor of the Church, and the Sermon and dedicatory Prayer were by Rev. Alexander McIver, of Sampson. The services were solemn and interesting. On the Sabbath twenty-six persons were admitted to full communion with the Church. This is a large and beautiful Church with a spacious gallery around, and will accommodate a thousand persons. It is highly creditable to the Congregations in the country, that they are making such visible improvements, in respect to the beauty and comfort of their Churches. There are six new Churches within the bounds of this Presbytery, which are nearly finished and will be ready soon to be dedicated. Considerable interest is felt on the subject of religion, in many of the Churches in this vicinity. At Union, at a recent Communion, 105 persons were admitted to the Church. At Bethesda, 24. At Cypress, 34. At Buffalo, 40. At the Bluff, 44; and in several other Churches, a considerable number.

At the late Internal Improvement Meeting, held in Warrenton, the following rather unexpected resolutions were adopted:

"Resolved That a fund for the purposes of Internal Improvement ought never to be provided upon the credit of the State; nor by joint contributions between the State and individuals.

"Resolved, That any imposition of Taxes upon the people of this State, or their property, for purposes of Internal Improvement, is opposed to justice and equality, and therefore violates the law of Taxation, and whenever it shall be done to will promote the interest of the few at the expense of the many."

From the Wilmington People's Press.

I was much gratified to observe in the Fayetteville Observer of the 8th inst., a proposed Internal Improvement meeting, to be held in your town, on the 31st inst.

Let me suggest for the consideration of your citizens, the project of a Rail Way, from some point on the Cape Fear, (say from tide water) by way of Lumberton, Laurel Hill, Rockingham, to the Pedee.

This route would secure all the trade of Bladen, Columbus, Robeson, Richmond, Anson, Montgomery and Mecklenburg counties, besides all the trade of Marion, Darlington and a considerable portion of Marlborough District, South Carolina. I have lately conversed with an intelligent citizen of Anson County, who informed me, that the citizens of that county, would subscribe $200,000 to any project that would immediately connect them to a convenient place of trade.

This is certainly the most eligible route that can be devised for uniting the eastern and western part of the State.

I could say a great deal on the propriety of continuing this route to the mountains, but as my object is to elicit the sentiments of your citizens on the subject, I will forbear saying more at present. B. S. B.

"Parley's Magazine" "The People's Magazine."—We have received from the publishers, Messrs. Lilly, Wait & Co. of Boston, several of the recent numbers of these popular and interesting works, which are, we understand, receiving a most extensive circulation and unprecedented patronage. We have already spoken of their merits, and find in the numbers before us every thing to confirm our former remarks. The wood cuts in the People's Magazine are spirited and well done; the paper and printing excellent, and the matter such as must interest all classes of readers, and especially young people. They are designed and well calculated to induce a spirit of inquiry, and a love for reading, which all parents are desirous to encourage.

The Constitution Vindicated.—In a letter to Mr. E. Everett, dated in August, 1830, Mr. Madison gives, in few words, his views of the true character of the Constitution of the United States. We are not less impressed with the precision and condensation of this extract, than with the great fundamental truths which it authoritatively expounds.

"In order," says he, "to understand the true character of the Constitution of the U. States, the error, not uncommon, must be avoided of viewing it through the medium, either of a consolidated Government," (as Mr. McDuffie, in 1821, viewed it,) "or of a Confederated Government," (as Mr. McDuffie, in 1833, views it,) "whilst it is neither the one nor the other; but a mixture of both. And having in no model the similitudes and analogies applicable to other systems of Government, it must, more than any other, be its own interpreter, according to its text, and the facts of the case It was formed by the States; that is, by the People in each of the States, acting in their highest sovereign capacity, and formed consequently by the same authority which formed the State Constitutions. Being thus derived from the same source as the Constitution of the States, it has, within each State, the same authority as the Constitution of the State, and is as much a Constitution, in the strict sense of the term, within its prescribed sphere, as the Constitution of the States are, within their respective spheres: but, with this obvious and essential difference, that being a compact among the States in their highest sovereign capacity, and constituting the People thereof ONE PEOPLE for certain purposes, it cannot be altered or annulled at the will of the States individually, as the Constitution of a State may be at its individual will.

'And that it divides the supreme powers of Government, between the Government of the United States and the Government of the individual States, is stamped on the face of the instrument; the powers of war and of taxation, of commerce and of treaties, and other enumerated powers vested in the Government of the United States, being of as high and sovereign a character, as any of the powers reserved to the State Governments."

Donna Maria.—As this young Miss is now the subject of much conversation and remark, a description of her person may not be uninteresting. A letter from Havre of the 8th ult. says: "I have seen Donna Maria twice. Although not fifteen years old, she has the appearance of twenty. Her eye is the only feature which pleases. She has a small, brilliant, piercing eye, which gives her countenance a great deal of animation. She is very fat, has a wide mouth and projecting teeth. She is by no means ugly, but simply good looking. Her dress is extremely simple; a white gown, and sky blue bonnet, trimmed very neatly, and no ornament whatever. I like this simplicity very much."

$250 REWARD.

RANAWAY, or stolen from Winnsborough, S. Carolina, on the 28th May, 1832, in the then possession of Wm. Beasley, a family of NEGROES, of the following description, viz: a negro man named Cato, raised by Wm. Wilson, of Sumter District, aged about 28 years, 5 feet 8 inches in height, dark complexion, full face, speaks generally in a low tone of voice, reads well, and may possibly write; a very plausible, polite and artful negro.—Also, his wife Milly, aged about 26 years, about 5 feet 4 inches in height, a very fat, stout woman at that time, has uniformly a pleasant countenance, is an excellent Cook and Seamstress; she was raised by Wm. Mills, of Sumter District. They took with them three children, viz: Carter, the eldest, a bright mulatto boy, aged about 7 years; second child, a girl named Caroline, aged about 4½ years; third, an infant boy when they absconded, named Elias It is possible that they may have, by this time, another child, being almost two years since they have been absent. I will give the above reward, or $75 each for the Fellow and Wench, and $33 33 for each of the Children, delivered in any gaol in this State. Should they have been stolen, I will give $400 on proof to conviction. There is but little doubt they were assisted in getting away from Winnsborough.

Five Cents Reward.

RANAWAY from the Subscriber, on the night of the 14th instant, an apprentice Boy named JOSEPH BELL, about sixteen years of age, hair light, very hump-shouldered; I expect he is aiming for West Tennessee. All persons are forewarned from harboring said Boy under the penalty of the law. I will give the above reward to any person who will deliver him to me, in Montgomery County, N C. No charges paid nor thanks given.

[1t.] L. HARRIS.

Hop Culture.—The Bangor Courier mentions that one of the packets of that place, bound for New York, recently took on board 200 bales of No. 1 Hops, raised in Penobscot. The value of this quantity was $8,000, and the present prices of the article make the crop worth, on an average, $150 per acre. As the Maine soil and climate are suited to the culture, we see no reason why it should not be carried, in that as well as other sections, much farther than it has been. In Great Britain, about 50,000 acres are occupied with hops.

Production of Cotton in Florida.—By a statement in the last Floridian, we perceive that a great increase in the production of Cotton is taking place every year. From two ports in Middle Florida, St. Marks and Maguolia, in 1825, sixty-four bales were shipped. In the year from the 1st of July 1832, to the 1st of July 1833, nine thousand six hundred and seventy-five bales were shipped from the same ports. This fact speaks for itself.

Wooden Clocks.—In the town of Plymouth, Con., it is said there are annually fifteen thousand wooden clocks manufactured. One individual has made by this business a fortune of nearly 200,000 dollars. Six towns in Connecticut are largely engaged in this branch of business.

Medical College of S. Carolina.

UNDER THE SUPERINTENDENCE AND PATRONAGE OF THE MEDICAL SOCIETY OF SOUTH CAROLINA.

THE TRUSTEES of this Institution inform the public that they have filled all the vacant Chairs, and that the regular course of Lectures will commence, as usual, on the 2d Monday in November.

In selecting gentlemen to become Professors in the Medical College of South Carolina, the Trustees were influenced alone by a sense of public duty. They therefore invited talent from every quarter of our widely extended country, being solicitous alone for the promotion of Medical Science, and of perpetuating a Medical School at the South. This they flatter themselves they have accomplished.

This Institution presents many advantages. It has a commodious Building, a valuable Library, a well selected and arranged Museum of Natural History and Mineralogy, an excellent Chemical Apparatus, a good Museum of Anatomy, and the newly elected Professor of that Chair will bring with him a Museum of Healthful and Morbid Anatomy, which contains upwards of 1300 Specimens, 300 Oil Paintings and Drawings, and a great number of Casts. The newly elected Professor of Obstetrics will also bring a Museum connected with his Department not surpassed by any in the United States. Adjoining the College are two Public Institutions, viz. the Marine Hospital and Alms House, which are under the superintendence of the Medical Society and the Professors of the College, and where Clinics will be delivered by the Professor of the Theory and Practice of Physic and the Professor of Surgery. The Trustees regret that the season was so far advanced before the re-organization of the College could be effected, but they thought it a duty to the State and to the City which have endowed this College, as well as to the Medical profession, to be certain of the character and attainments of the Candidates before they appointed them as Professors. The College they can now recommend as possessing advantages not surpassed by any in the United States.

The following are the Professors:—

John R. Rhinelander, M. D. Professor of Anatomy.
Thomas Y. Simons, M. D. Professor of Theory and Practice of Physic.
William Anderson, M. D. Professor of Surgery.
Andrew Hasell, M. D. Professor of Materia Medica.
Charles Davis, M. D. Professor of Chemistry.
Henry Alexander, M. D. Professor of Institutes of Medicine.
G. S. Bedford, M. D. Professor of Obstetrics and Diseases of Women and Children.

The Trustees of the Medical College of South Carolina, consist of the following gentlemen:

FRANCIS Y. PORCHER, M. D.
E. W. NORTH, M. D.
B. B SIMONS, M. D.
JOSEPH GLOVER, M. D.
HORATIO S. WARING, M. D.
